Capital Agog Over Fight On Convict Lease System

SENATE TO SWING INTO ACTION TODAY

House Resolution Will Be Taken Up As Special Order

MEMBERS GET HOME OPINIONS

Capital Corridors Are Buzzing Tuesday With Excitement

(By Associated Press)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 17.—The Alabama senate will swing into action on the convict lease system late today when it takes up, as a special order of business, the house resolution which bans further consideration of the present mode of working convicts during the legislative term. In effect the resolution places the seal of approval on the system and prevents any attempt to change existing statutes in the opinion of the anti-lease faction, which is prepared to make a terrific onslaught, they say, when the matter comes before the senate.

Among the members of the upper body were those today who admitted they had heard from home, but no prediction was advanced by this group as to whether sentiment had crystallized to prevent passage of the house resolution.

Senator Walter S. Brower, of Birmingham, is leader of the fight to check the house resolution, which he characterized as an "effort to gag not only the legislature, but the people who have spoken in no uncertain tones concerning the system."

He contends that the resolution is unconstitutional because "the house has no right to say that action cannot be taken on any question in the future."

The administration, which upholds the system for economic system, is understood to back the house resolution and leaders of the senate who favor the resolution say they have sufficient strength to carry out the wishes of the governor.

From all corners of the state pressure has been brought to bear on members of both houses, it became known today, in an effort to end the system at once. The newspapers of the state, with few exceptions, have dealt broadsides to the house action.

Seldom has there been heard in capital corridors such a hum of excitement as exists on the question before the senate.

A bill is ready for introduction in the house, which abolishes the system in progressive manner. One-third of the convicts to be removed from the system each year for three years. This bill is contrary to the spirit of the house resolution and whether it may be successfully introduced is a question that has aroused the interest of the parliamentarians.

FILIPINO POLITICAL WAR IS AT CLIMAX

(By Associated Press)
MANILA, July 17.—The climax in the political war between Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood and Filipino officials came today when the cabinet and council of state tendered their resignation in a body. The governor general accepted them.

Pleasant Evening Spent By League

A pleasant entertainment was held at the local Y. M. C. A. last night by the membership of the Luther League, a religious organization of the young people of the Lutheran church here. The president of the league is Robert Nebrigg and the secretary is Miss Catherine Snyder. A short musical and literary program was rendered last night followed by an ice cream supper.

DID RELIGIOUS FANATIC KILL TO SAVE HER SOUL?

Dorothy Kauffman, Intl.

One of the strangest murder mysteries of recent years was the stabbing to death of Dorothy Kauffman, a beautiful governess in the home of Magruder Craighead, near Scarsdale, N. Y. Born in a Mennonite colony, in Maryland, and given a college education, the girl became principal of the Mennonite school at Shelltown. But the restrictions of the Mennonite faith palled on her. She wanted pretty clothes, like other girls. So she left home and went to work as a servant—and the first thing she bought was a pretty dress. Officials, unable to solve the slaying declare the belief that she was killed by a fanatical Mennonite, who thought thus to save her soul.

FARMER-LABORITE LEADS REPUBLICAN

(Associated Press)
ST PAUL, Minn., July 17.—When 2,639 of the state's 3,520 precincts had reported at noon today on yesterday's senatorial election, Magnus Johnson, farmer-laborite had a lead of 62,500 votes over Governor Preus, republican the count standing Johnson 244,207, Preus 181,422, James A. Carley, democrat, 17,176.

Players And Movies Princess Theater

A jammed house filled the Princess last night to see the "Follies" and a good picture. Among the entertainers were "Skinny" an eccentric comedian of more than ordinary excellence and an accordion player, both being received by marked approval. Tonight with every adult ticket one lady will be admitted free. For some reason the expected musicians did not arrive but a good local orchestra furnished music that was greatly enjoyed.

Injured Woman Improves Today

The condition of Mrs. Charles D. Lamon, of West Albany, who was struck by an automobile Saturday was reported today as practically unchanged. Mrs. Lamon still suffers considerably, but no complications have arisen as yet it was stated at her residence this morning.

The car that struck Mrs. Lamon, according to physicians bruised her head and shoulder, dislocated two fingers on her left hand, and bruised her about the region of the heart.

FOUR ATTEMPTS TO KILL WOMAN MADE

Postal Inspectors Are Seeking Clue To Sender Of Bombs

EXPLOSIVE SENT HER THREE TIMES

Beaten Severely With Automobile Crank On Lonely Road

(By Associated Press)
CHELSEA, Mass., July 17.—Postal inspectors today described three bomb plots against Mrs. Grace Lewis of this city.

Last Saturday Mrs. Sadie Bennett opened a package addressed to Mrs. Lewis, her sister-in-law, and found a book. She turned a few pages and there came an explosion which lacerated her arms and threw her to the floor.

In May Mrs. Lewis received a small cabinet through the mails. When she opened it an explosion resulted, which burned her severely.

Several weeks later explosives were found packed about the filament in an electric light bulb, outside her apartment, which failed to light.

A year ago she was severely beaten with an automobile crank shaft by a man on a lonely road.

The police admitted today they were watching the Boston residence of an optician, known to be a former suitor of Mrs. Lewis.

BABE'S PATERNITY NOW BEFORE COURT

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 17.—Arguments are expected to begin in the superior court in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Mrs. Lois Poland, of Savannah, Ga., wife of Captain Clinton Poland, U. S. A., against her sister, Mrs. Elsie Shosted for the custody of a 5-year-old girl, named June.

Mrs. Poland told the court the child was born to her before she was married and that its father was Frank Melton, an American soldier, who, she said, was killed in France during the world war. She said she took the name of her sister, who was then Mrs. Earl Shanholder, when the child was born, and the report was given out that the latter was really the mother.

She declared she wanted to take charge of the baby then but her sister and the latter's husband dissuaded her. Her sister has consistently refused to give up the child ever since, she said.

Mrs. Shosted testified it was her husband, Shanholder and not Melton, who was the father of her sister's child and that Mrs. Poland had so confessed to her. She stated her sister gave her the baby immediately after its birth.

Tale Of Torture And Kidnapping Told

(By Associated Press)
OKMULGEE, Okla., July 17.—A story of kidnapping and torture was told by Mrs. George Petrol, of Tulsa, who staggered into police headquarters here late last night.

The young woman declared she had been forced, at the point of a revolver, to enter a motor car on a busy street corner in Tulsa earlier in the night. Her abductors, four men and a woman, she said, carried her to the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad station, where they placed her on a train and brought her to Okmulgee.

Acid was applied to her arms and legs by the kidnapers in an effort to force her to divulge some information relative to a lawsuit in Sapulpa, in which her husband was involved, the woman told local officers.

START OF BALOON RACE THAT ENDED IN DEATH

U. S. Naval Lieutenant L. J. Roth, a tiny figure at the top of the balloon netting is shown making the final inspection of the naval balloon A-6698, in which he and Lieutenant T. B. Null started from Indianapolis on July 4, in the elimination races to determine the three American entries in the James Gordon Bennett races in Europe this fall. The balloon fell into Lake Erie, and the two officers were drowned.

TRAVELERS RETURN FROM LONG TRIP

Not travel worn by their long railroad journey, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith, Mrs. R. H. Wolcott, A. C. Bailey and Bryant McAfee, who made up a party of five travelers all the way from here to the Pacific, and to Pike's Peak and then back again, are found in their praise of the ancient method of railroad travel as against the modern automobile as a means of moving from place to place.

"We started from the Twin Cities and went direct to New Orleans," stated Mrs. W. R. Smith. "From the Crescent City we crossed to El Paso, Texas. We crossed the Rio Grande into old Mexico. It should be said here that this river is about like Flint creek to what we have always thought. Except when it goes on a rampage the Rio Grande is not a grand river at all and nothing like as large as the Tennessee. It is like a creek."

"In Juarez, Mexico, where we remained but one day, I was told no Volstead act was effective."

"We went to Albuquerque from Mexico, thence to the Grand Canyon, thence to Riveside, Cal., thence to Los Angeles, Cal., thence to Santa Cruise."

"We visited the big trees of California and found them second to none of the attractions of the great west."

"We were at San Francisco, and at Berkeley, the seat of Leland Stanford University."

"We went to Oakland and thence to Salt Lake City and to Ogden."

"The Yellowstone Park was our next objective. There was a hotel there costing over $1,000,000 with more to be built, all a 100 miles from any railroad. I do not see how they did it but the service was as complete as at any of the best New York hotels."

Most of the waiters were young people who were working their way through college.

"We had one of our best wishes at Pike's Peak. The descriptions some have brought back from that high eminence, are great, but no words can tell what a wonderful place the high mountain is."

"We came on to Denver, thence to St. Louis, thence to Nashville and then home again, the best place after all."

Pension Boost For Confederate Vets

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 17.—One hundred per cent increase in pensions for Confederate veterans is provided for in a bill to be introduced this afternoon in the state senate.

SENATOR ATTACKS ACREAGE REPORTS

(By Associated Press)
FLORENCE, S. C., July 17.—United States Senator E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, made public here today, takes exception to the recent department of agricultural report on cotton acreage and the estimated yield for 1923. He announces that he will seek a congressional investigation of the methods used by the crop reporting board in reaching its conclusion.

Senator Smith asserted in his letter that he was "utterly astonished" when he saw the report giving the acreage as the greatest in the history of cotton planting in America and added "when congress reconvenes, in justice to the cotton grower, the trade in general and to the department itself, I shall have this system of gathering information thoroughly investigated so as to ascertain whether it is meeting the object for which it is created."

"Any one familiar with conditions of the cotton belt, the ravages of the boll weevil, the exodus of the labor, knows that any certain acreage as reported has not been planted."

The Senator said in conclusion that under present conditions there is neither incentive nor labor to take care of a normal acreage much less to increase it over that of previous years."

McAdoo On Stand In The Morse Case

(By Associated Press)

BOTH VICTIMS DIE AT HOSPITAL HERE

Last Chapter In Tragic Story Will Be Written Soon

FUNERALS SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Jenkins And Graham In Hospital Called By Death Today

The end of a double tragedy, which began at a little red school house in Limestone county twelve miles west of Athens late Sunday afternoon came in the Benevolent hospital here, today when the death angel appeared to Monroe Jenkins at 2 o'clock this morning and to Blair Graham at 11:40 o'clock this morning.

The two persons named were the only parties connected with the tragedy so far as known at the present time, the reasons that led to each youth seeking the life of the other have perished with the young men themselves. When they were both mortally wounded and were on their way to medical aid here, late Sunday night, one of the now dead youths did make a statement relative to the altercation that led to the death shots but as far as could be learned from relatives of Blair Graham, no cause or motive has ever assigned by either of the wounded youths as to why they fired the fatal shots.

It was announced by hospital authorities this morning before death had come to Blair Graham, that he could not live. This was about 9 o'clock A. M. and at the time the death of Monroe Jenkins was announced as coming at 2 o'clock this morning. The cause of the death of Monroe Jenkins was given as "shock, caused by the penetration of his liver from his side of a steel pistol ball." It was explained that death came too quickly for blood poison to have set up.

The cause of the death of Blair Graham at 11:40 o'clock today was similar to the cause which ended the life of his late antagonist. Graham was shot through the stomach, stated Dr. H. D. Greer who attended both of the wounded youths from the time they were brought to the Benevolent hospital.

The body of Monroe Jenkins, after being prepared for burial here was taken to the noon time accommodation to be sent to Athens.

The body of Blair Graham, after it had been prepared for burial here, was to be taken through the country to Coxe, the neighborhood home of both the young men.

It was announced by relatives of Blair Graham here today that the body of Graham would be buried in the family grave yard near Coxe some time Wednesday.

It was stated that the burial of the body of Monroe Jenkins would occur Wednesday also, in a burying ground near the one in which Blair Graham is to be laid to rest.

It was stated that Blair Graham was in his 21st year at the time of his death and that Monroe Jenkins was in his 26th year when he passed away.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

LET'S GET TOGETHER.

From the looks of things we are to have one city—let it be so. We have waited, worked for hoped for this since the foundation of the Daily—and before—believing it meant great future for these cities.

Many heretofore opposed, now favor, believing the time is here to have one splendid city, thus assuring and bringing into life the great possibilities, rarely equalled anywhere.

When the Daily was founded it announced it was for consolidation and through the many years of its existence it has never wavered in its support. Consolidation is right and means, not retard, but rapid advance and the whole community will probably profit thereby.

MR. UNDERWOOD NOT SATISFIED WITH THE NATION'S FOREIGN POLICY.

In a recent utterance credited to Senator Oscar W. Underwood, this country is taken to task because of its negative attitude toward the world situation brought on by the world war.

He might inquire why no action was ever taken for or against the proposed bonus for ex-service men. The Senator could criticize the leaders of the party now in power for taking a negative attitude toward the offer of Henry Ford to develop Muscle Shoals.

Mr. Underwood's preachment against this nation's foreign policy makes good reading matter and is in part as follows.

Our nation can do more than any other great country today, because of its isolated position; its unselfish position when the war closed, and its great potential powers to establish permanent peace; but we have done nothing, and are doing nothing, to aid the peace of Europe. Our government arm seems paralyzed so far as help in that direction is concerned. We seem to be standing in respect to the affairs of Europe, without a policy, without courage of conviction, without anything that goes to make a man a man, or a government a government. We seem to be just observing and drifting, at least so far as the public is allowed to know. If we have a policy or a conviction in regard to the peace and development of European affairs, it must be an undisclosed one. Never in all our history as a nation have we occupied a more negative position in the affairs of Europe than we do today. We continue to drift down stream and the roar of the cataract can be heard ahead.

In the latter report of the succeeding excerpt from the address of Mr. Underwood he expresses the belief that America will yet recognize her obligation:

We are not a party to the causes of strife as they exist today in Europe, and theoretically it certainly is not necessary for our country to become involved. God grant that cup may never come to our lips again, but we must remember that in 1914 when war broke in Europe we stood for peace, and yet, without our fault, in 1917, we were in the war and the sons of Americans were dying on the battlefields of Europe. I cannot believe that the people of America have forgotten their pledges to aid in securing the peace of the world; that they have forgotten that our men and women said we were fighting that we might make the world a better place in which to live.

In this time of negative utterance, the statements just quoted from Mr. Underwood seem quite positive, and they indicate that Alabama's senior Senator would do something to aid the cause of peace and prosperity in the world if he had sufficient opportunity to do so.

If the Twin Cities ever grow they will be grown together.

Wall Street is betting one dollar to twenty that Gov. Smith will be the next president; it is betting one dollar to three that if Ford gets the presidential nomination in one of the major parties he will be the president. Even Wall street has to respect Mr. Ford. Maybe the Washington solons will see the light this winter.

What spoils true vision is looking up to mere men.

What a grand and glorious time it will be when the writers do not have to word around so much about "one community."

If our likes were as vigorous as our dislikes what a happy world we would have.

There are no large places in the world called "Hopewell." It takes more than hope to build cities.

The 200th day of the year will be Friday. How many unbroken resolutions remain.

Those who say everything has gone sour have been handed a lemon.

A man who signs an anonymous letter although it be with the brave name "fearnaught," does fear or else he would put his John Hancock to it.

About the only bald head that gets any attention is the one that wears a wig or the one of the fellow who brushes what little hair he has, across from his ear or something like that.

Too many "up, ups" in life are quite as disastrous as the toboggan slide.

It will take more than the empty promises of the "reds" to detach any considerable number of Americans from the pay-roll.

HINDS EXPLAINS WEEVIL'S STATUS

The following excerpts from an address of W. E. Hinds, entomologist, to the Cotton Seed Crushers Association, give an interesting insight at the status of the boll weevil in Southern cotton fields:

1. The prospect for boll weevil damage east of the Mississippi river at the present time is for the heaviest infestation that we have had since 1916 which was the worst weevil year we have ever had. West of the Mississippi river the prospect is more favorable for the farmer with somewhat less than average infestation reported now.

2. It is not too late to save a large part of the prospective damage if the cotton farmers generally will firmly and promptly make up their minds to make the very best fight within their power still to save this crop on which they have already made such a heavy investment in fertilizer and labor.

3. The next step in weevil control is the collection by family labor, of all fallen, flared and brown hanging squares to check the first generation of the weevil and thus allow the cotton to continue to set its crop of bolls. Collections should be made every five or six days and continue for three or four weeks. If weevils have already emerged in considerable numbers when collection is begun it will be a more difficult job and somewhat less effective in controlling the weevils but should be done where possible nevertheless. Square collection is urged especially where yielding capacity is below 1-3 bale per acre or where dusting cannot, or will not be practiced later.

4. For higher yielding areas, and where the expense for poison and machinery can be arranged, there is no question as to the advisability of dusting according to the government method. This means to begin dusting when 10 per cent of the squares show any kind of weevil puncture, either feeding or egg puncture. Make the first three applications then four days apart, or on the fifth day. If heavy dashing rains fall within 24 hours after the dust is applied repeat that treatment as soon as possible thereafter. Then watch the infestation.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Making a House a Home

Copyright, 1933, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

WHAT is it that makes Sue Graham's house so beautifully comfortable and so tasteful and unexpected? Visiting there, I felt the charm, and now that I am home again, I've set my wits to work to see if I can make out the secret which is surely the property of Sue.

In the first place, Sue is independent. Sue designed her own window curtains, and gave the final touch which made the curtains just perfect in the house and the place where they hung. And that is one of the main things which count so much in Sue's house. You feel that these window curtains just belong where they are, and you know that they are an inspiration of the bonny mistress of the house.

It has made me feel again the little current of regret which sometimes runs through my ungrateful veins and almost crumples in my nerves when I hear the name "Interior Decorator." Not every person who adopts this name and business is competent. Without doubt, most are good and tasteful people. I know of one or two who are real benefactors to their race. But the heavy hands of overpersuasive members of the profession are sometimes too much in evidence in the homes of the rich and the would-be right-up-to-date.

Winifred Black

Books are to some of us the necessary occupants of every inhabited room in a home. But there are men and women who never read a book, and who would stack up in such houses unread, unopened books.

Beyond a few volumes for possible guests, the houses of people who do not read should be free from books. That is one way of showing reality, genuine freedom from the rule of the big majority who think they must have books because most big and fashionable houses have libraries.

There is nothing much more dreary than one of these libraries, the shelves filled by orders on the booksellers: "Send me so many feet of books that are beautifully bound."

There the lonely volumes stand, year by year, on the shelves, and their state of stiff, perfect order shows they have never felt the touch of a book lover or of a delighted reader.

I know of one house which perfectly reflects the character and tastes of its owner. It is full of books, but there isn't a picture of any kind in it.

The ceilings are low, and the walls are covered with a grayish brown, with curtains which let in, yet soften, the light. The people in this home are of moderate means and they must have books.

Homes of Personality

As for pictures; they care little for any but the very best; and as they cannot afford what they like in pictures, they go without, and have most of their comfort as to material things in their books.

It is a house full of personality. No one misses pictures in this house, or, if they do, they set the fact down to the genuine taste of their hosts and their perfect freedom from the bonds of custom, so far as their home furnishing goes.

Liberty of action could not be found in reality if any thought of the ruling furniture and interior decorator were to enter into the practical calculations of these people who make of their home such a calm, serene realm of life as reveals their own character and tastes to the delight of all comers.

It is worth while to be real. To have some part of your life which does not consist of what isn't interesting to you, but is as important as being in the latest style!

Individuality Is Needed

Now, interior decorators have troubles of their own, of course. They must live up to the fashion of the day and turn out gray rooms or brown rooms or blue rooms and all sorts of painted and strangely finished furniture upon adamant demand. Also they must fight for their plans and modify them until all the originality they so carefully put into them is stripped away.

But there also is a side to the plight of the home owner. Who does not know the woman who deeply desires a blue room in her upstairs domain, but who cannot have it because the decorator tells her it isn't done?

Now, I think that woman should have her blue room or pink room or purple room, if she really wants it. Why have a house if you cannot do as you please in it? Every home should have individuality in it. The satisfactory home is the one where the owner and the loves of its inhabitants.

The plan of a humble Presbyterian minister for the good of his people in a remote parish led to the post office savings bank in Great Britain with 1,200 million dollar deposits by poor people. It was successful and soon copied all over Scotland.

NEWS OF CAPITAL

(By Associated Press)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 17.—The Alabama legislature will reconvene this afternoon at 2 o'clock following a recess which started last Friday afternoon. Most of the members of the assembly were in the capital this morning ready for the gavel to sound.

Action this afternoon is expected by many members to reach a warm fight with resolution schedules to be brought up in the senate expressing satisfaction over the present convict lease system, and requesting that it be left unaltered at this time.

Senator Walter Brower, of Birmingham, declared opponent of the convict lease system and several other senators are being watched to carry the battle against the resolution, according to legislative observers.

The resolution came to the senate from the lower house where it passed by a 52 to 22 ballot.

In the house the revenue bill is expected to furnish subject for debate with Representative Tunstall having introduced a bill as an addition to the revenue measure, providing for an additional automobile license tag tax and a truck tax.

The legislature is expected to remain in session through Friday of this week, according to members.

Fair weather in Alabama during the past week with several showers, is believed by agricultural authorities to have aided the crops considerably.

Cotton over the southern part of the state, while late, is said to be showing improvements.

Many shipments of water melons are being made out of the state, it is said.

Citizens of Mobile are anxiously awaiting the results of the legislature's action on the Mobile port amendment which provides for the improvement of the Mobile docks and harbor, at a cost of $1,000,000.

Senator John Craft has contended throughout that the legislature could go ahead in granting the state power to lend its credit to the project and with the opinion of the supreme court in the report's favor, it is expected that early action will be carried out by the assembly.

The citizen's committee of Tuskegee appointed to confer with Director Hines of the war veterans bureau on the federal hospital situation, is said to be ready to meet with Mr. Hines at his calling.

Director Hines came to Tuskegee recently and heard the opposition to the placing of the negro personnel at the veterans hospital here.

Bills in general that are expected to be taken up this week by the Alabama legislature and the ones that are being discussed here are those on Sunday observance, revenue, county superintendents of education, convict leasing and Mobile port.

Brief outlines of the bills and what they provide for follows:

Sunday observance—by Senator J. M. Bonner of Camden. Provides for the closing of movies and baseball on Sunday in the state of Alabama when admission is charged.

Revenue—by Representative Tunstall of Hale. Provides for the abolition of county tax-collectors in counties having less than 35,000 inhabitants. Provides for increased automobile license tag tax and other forms of revenue raising and conservation.

County superintendents of education—Provides for the abolition of the present method of selecting county superintendents of education. Provides for election by direct vote of the people instead of selection by county boards of education and the state department of education.

Convict leasing—Provides for the abolition of the present convict lease system. Resolution now before the senate and arising in the house provides for continuance of the present leasing system.

Mobile port—the Mobile port amendment provides for the issuing of $10,000,000 worth of bonds on the part of the state for the development and improvement of Mobile port.

Legion Meet Will Draw Big Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Predicting that the fifth annual national convention of the American Legion, to be held in San Francisco, October 15 to 19, will be one of the largest and most successful in the history of the organization, national adjutant Lemuel Bolles of Indianapolis, drew a hearty response from his auditors at a luncheon gathering of local business people today, addressed by the national adjutant, who is visiting San Francisco to discuss preliminary arrangements for next October's big convalescence.

Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett, general chairman of the national convention committee, and other leaders in preparations for the coming convalescence, discussed many of the important preliminaries for the convention, with National Adjutant Bolles. San Francisco's big exposition auditorium will form an ideal location for the business sessions of the legion convention, the big structure comfortably seating 15,000 people; with perfect acoustics. Hotel men and restaurant proprietors of the city assured the national adjutant that normal rates will prevail during the week of the convention, there being no advances of any kind over regular prices.

SPORTS

(By Associated Press)

Blazing a name of fame in amateur baseball records, the Gadsden Independents continue to chalk up easy victories over the best of amateur teams in north Alabama and south Tennessee.

Rowdy Crew, manager of the Gadsden aggregation has led his outfit to thirty victories already with but five defeats marked against them.

Claude Wilson, youthful Birmingham bantamweight battler who has a great host of friends among those who have seen him in his short but promising career will doubtless follow his record in the east where he is matched in several big-time appearances, according to reports.

hardly breaking even in their series during the past month. Manager "Stuffy" Stewart has won the support of the fans over the circuit, however, and has the team fighting harder than during the early part of the campaign.

Mobile, the second Alabama entry in the Southern association, is admitted to have a wonderfully balanced team and one that still has many followers who believe that they have more than a fighting chance at the pennant again this season. The Bears, with one more reliable twirler, according to sport writers, would be dangerous pennant contenders.

Fuhr, Long and Fulton are all pitching consistently for the Bears while James is at times pitching winning baseball.
